John 20:19-31

What kind of car would Jesus drive? A Chrysler.

1. A man's wife was in labor with their first child and suddenly she began to shout, "Shouldn't, couldn't wouldn't, didn't, can't!!" It seems she was having contractions.
2. A woman walking into her living room as a commercial is coming on the TV and her husband says to her, "Just so you know, I never want to live in a vegetative state, dependent on some machine. If that ever happens, just pull the plug." Hearing this, his wife walks over to the TV and unplugs it.
3. A lady was caught knitting while driving. A police officer saw her, pulled up beside her and hollered, "Pull over!" The lady yelled back, "No! Cardigan!"

Feminist Jokes

1. What is the difference between government bonds and men? Bonds mature.
2. What do you call a man with half a brain? Gifted

Bar Jokes

1. A German walks into a bar and orders a martini. "Dry?" the bartender asks. "No," the German replied, "just one."
2. The past, present, and future all walk into a bar. It was tense.

Ecumenical Clergy Jokes

1. Four clergy friends decide to go on an overnight retreat together. As they are sitting together in the cabin that night, they decide to share personal stories. One of the things they shared was their worse sin.

The Catholic priest said his sin was Lust, he had photo magazines at the rectory ...

The Episcopal priest said his sin was Greed – he coveted his money, only gave 25 cents to offerings

The Lutheran clergy man said his sin was Gluttony – he often snuck out to McDonalds for 4 or 5 big Mac's and buckets of fries

The Baptist clergyman said his sin was Gossip – and he couldn't wait to get back home.

2. The town had bought a brand-new fire truck. Being a religious community, they decided to have the truck blessed, ecumenically.

The Catholic priest was present and sprinkled the truck with holy water.

The Baptist clergyman laid his hands on the truck and prayer.

And the Rabbi cut off a quarter inch from the end of one of the hoses.

3. A nun was seen wearing her clothes inside out. When asked why she was dressed this way, she said, "It was just a bad habit of mine."

No Good Deed Goes Unpunished

A man goes to the hospital to sing for the patients. He sang a wide variety of songs – pop, Broadway hits, country, even opera. When he had finished, he told those gathered, "Thank you. I hope you all get better." The patients, who had been listening, said, "Thank you, and we hope you get better, too."

Baptism Jokes

1. After they had had their infant son baptized and were on their way home from the church service, the boy's parents were very confused, because his older sister began to cry, unconsolably. "What on earth is the matter?" they asked her. Sniffling, she said, "The pastor said we, I and my brother, should be raised in a Christian home, but I want to stay with you."

2. A scientist's wife had twins; identical twin boys. True to his profession, he decided to baptize one and keep the other as a control.

For the Scientists

1. One tectonic plate bumped into another tectonic plate, and said, "Sorry, my fault."

2. Three engineers – mechanical, electrical, and civil – were arguing about which of their branches of study was closer to God.

The mechanical engineer said, "just look at the body, its joints, well-constructed, weight-bearing

The electrical engineer said, "but, look at the nervous system and its intricate network of electrical circuits

To which the civil engineer said, "you both make valid points, but God has to be a civil engineer. Who else would run a waste disposal pipeline right through a great recreational area?"

The "Why" question

Why is an elephant large, gray, and wrinkled?

Because, if he was small, white, and smooth, he'd be an aspirin.

Heaven and Hell

1. At the pearly gates, a taxi driver and a minister are waiting in line. St. Peter consults his list and says to the taxi driver, "Take this silken robe and golden staff and enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

St. Peter next greets the minister saying, "Take this cotton robe and wooden staff and enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

"Just a minute," says the minister. "That man was a taxi driver, and he gets a silken robe and golden staff while I get a cotton robe and wooden staff. How can this be?"

"Up here, we work by results," says St. Peter. "While you preached, people slept; while he drove, people prayed."

2. The old preacher had spent 40 years pastoring in the same church and was highly respected in the community. The end of his life was drawing near and as he lay on his death bed he asked for the local banker and the local lawyer to come and spend his last hours with him. Both were impressed that they would be asked, because they respected his faith. So they wondered what great pearl of wisdom the old pastor wished to share with them.

As they enter his room he motioned for one to sit on his left and one on his right. As they sat down, a great peace came upon the man of God. 30 minutes passed and not a word was spoken.

Finally, the banker leaned forward and asked, "Reverend, we were wondering what great pearl of wisdom you may want to share with us, since you called us here."

The old preacher looked at him and replied, "As you know, Jesus has been the example I have striven to live by all my life, and, since he died between two thieves, I decided that is the way I wanted to go."

For the Trustees:

What's the difference between giving God a tithe and giving a tip? A tip is 15%.

A Shared Joke:
